

Self-Analysis of Video

According to my classmates I was "Well Prepared" since my presentation looked neat and like I had invested time and effort in to it.

I lacked interaction and connection with the class which is something that I need to work on and become better at. I plan to improve this by introducing smaller bits of material and making sure I receive feedback from the class, encouraging students to participate and ask questions.

My presentation was very lengthy and perhaps over-prepared, which is fine. The lesson prepared for self-teaching can be used as a weeks worth of material for students.
